WHAT THE BOARD SHOULD TAKE FROM THIS PACK

- Helios (auto components): OEM schedule cut in the month. Volume, not price. Catch-up not in Q2 guide until the OEM confirms weeks.
- Rivermark (specialty distribution): gross margin 180 bps light on mix — national accounts vs independent. Not a one-off freight spike.
- Twelve of fourteen names are at or above plan. Do not read the firm miss as a book-wide problem.
- Cash is adequate. No draw. Leverage on last-twelve-month EBITDA still inside the 3.5x holdco covenant.

ASK OF THE BOARD

No capital action this month. Note Helios volume risk in the Q2 reforecast. Rivermark mix to be reviewed with management before April close.

Revenue 43.9 – COGS 31.2 = GP 12.7. GP – OpEx 9.47 = EBITDA 3.23. EBITDA – D&A 1.10 = EBIT 2.13. EBIT – interest 0.62 – tax 0.37 = NI 1.14.

Gross margin –130 bps is mix (Rivermark) plus Helios volume dropping through a relatively fixed cost base, not a price war.

OpEx held. Do not cut G&A to offset an OEM slot cut. Tax is lower on the miss; that is arithmetic, not a planning win.

Consolidated, holdco + 14 portcos, intercompany eliminated. Totals foot. Sample mapping of a live close pack; legal names removed.

EBITDA bridge: volume at Helios (−0.80) and mix at Rivermark (−0.50) explain the month

READ THE BRIDGE

Start: plan EBITDA $4.20m.

Volume and price on the other twelve names were small positives. They do not offset the two names.

Helios −$0.80m is units. OEM released 11% fewer slots than the Q1 guide we locked in February.

Rivermark −$0.50m is mix, not freight. National-account share rose; independent mix fell.

Opex is held to plan (P&L +$0.03m). It is not on this bridge because it is not the story.

Actual \$3.23m. $4.20 - 0.80 - 0.50 + 0.33 \text{ rest of book} = 3.23$.

Fourteen names: twelve at or above plan; Helios and Rivermark are the firm miss

Portco (sample names)	Rev $m	Plan	Var	EBITDA $m	vs plan

Cash $31.7m all-in; holdco $19.1m; leverage 2.4x vs 3.5x covenant — no action

CASH WALK (HOLDCO, $m)

1 Mar 18.8 + opco upstream 1.4 + tax refund 0.2 – holdco opex 0.6 – interest 0.62 – other 0.08 = 19.1

No dividend. No extra paydown. March interest matches the P&L.

BOTTOM LINE

Liquidity is not the constraint this month.
Do not tighten opex to “make up” Helios volume.
Watch Helios Q2 slots before changing the year.
